CONFERENCE PROGRAMME

Biennial Indonesia Mining Conference The Future of Indonesian Mining: Exploration, Productivity and Governance

September 9-10, 2015 | Jakarta International Expo Kemayoran, Jakarta - Indonesia

Background

In the next decade, Indonesian mineral and coal mining will be dealing with: decrease in reserves; declining production and not yet well established central and regional authorities in the management of mineral and coal. In this seminar we will discussed:

- (1) Understanding the importance of exploration activities, including deep exploration and offshore exploration to find new reserves with the objective to enrich the Indonesia's coal and mineral reserves
- (2) The various experiences and the strategy of the companies and other countries to increase productivity amid declining prices and high production costs
- (3) The importance of harmonized authorities of central and local government in the management of mineral and coal.

The decreasing mineral reserves in the midst of increasing demands, has made Indonesia turn to resource nationalism approach, therefore Indonesia needs to learn from other countries. Since productivity is a problem faced by the mineral and coal mining company in Indonesia, hence in this seminar, the participants will hear and interact directly in interactive sessions on various topics and learn experiences of companies such as in; 1) Mining operations benchmarking; 2) Technology and 'big data' in Mining; 3) Recovery Transformation Services; 4) Sharing of case examples by KPC, NNT, Adaro and Vale, and 5) Energy Efficiency in Mining tools and technology.
